DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 – 14, drawn to a method for detecting an analyte, classified in class 436, subclass 501.
- II. Claims 15 – 22, drawn to a method for detecting an antigen, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.
- III. Claims 23 – 36, drawn to a flow-through assay device, classified in class 435, subclass 287.2.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are directed to related methods. The related inventions are distinct if the inventions as claimed do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants; and the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed have a different mode of operation, function and effect.

Group I is a method for detecting an analyte requiring detecting an analyte residing in a test sample, wherein the analyte binds to the capture reagent at said scavenging zone, which is not required by the method of Group II.

Group II requires a method for detecting an antigen requiring detecting an antigen residing in a test sample, wherein the antigen binds to an antibody included with the capture reagent in the scavenging zone, which is not required by the method of Group I. Group II further requires the antigen to include C-reactive protein, which is also not required by the method of Group I.

Inventions (I or II) and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process, such as separation or filtration.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, and because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Jacqueline DiRamio whose telephone number is 571-272-8785. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 9-5:30.
